TO THE TEACHER

What is Top Notch? Top Notch is a six-levelSM communicative course that prepares adults and young adults to interact successfully and confidently with both native and non-native speakers of English.

The goal of Top Notch is to make English unforgettable through:

- Multiple exposures to new language
- Numerous opportunities to practice it
- Deliberate and intensive recycling

The Top Notch course has two beginning levels—Top Notch Fundamentals for true beginners and Top Notch 1 for false beginners. Top Notch is benchmarked to the Global Scale of English and is tightly correlated to the Can-do Statements of the Common European Framework of Reference.

Each full level of Top Notch contains material for 60–90 hours of classroom instruction. In addition, the entire course can be tailored to blended learning with an integrated online component, MyEnglishLab.

NEW This third edition of Top Notch includes these new features: Extra Grammar Exercises, digital full-color Vocabulary Flash Cards, Conversation Activator videos, and Pronunciation Coach videos.

* Summit 1 and Summit 2 are the titles of the 5th and 6th levels of the Top Notch course.

Award-Winning Instructional Design*

Daily confirmation of progress

Each easy-to-follow two-page lesson begins with a clearly stated practical communication goal closely aligned to the Common European Framework's Can-do Statements. All activities are integrated with the goal, giving vocabulary and grammar meaning and purpose. Now You Can activities ensure that students achieve each goal and confirm their progress in every class session.

Explicit vocabulary and grammar

Clear captioned picture-dictionary illustrations with accompanying audio take the guesswork out of meaning and pronunciation. Grammar presentations containing both rules and examples clarify form, meaning, and use. The unique Recycle this Language feature continually puts known words and grammar in front of students' eyes as they communicate, to make sure language remains active.

High-frequency social language

Twenty memorable conversation models provide appealing natural social language that students can carry "in their pockets" for use in real life. Rigorous controlled and free discussion activities systematically stimulate recycling of social language, ensuring that it's not forgotten.

Linguistic and cultural fluency

Top Notch equips students to interact with people from different language backgrounds by including authentic accents on the audio. Conversation Models, Photo Stories, and cultural fluency activities prepare students for social interactions in English with people from unfamiliar cultures.

Active listening syllabus

All Vocabulary presentations, Pronunciation presentations, Conversation Models, Photo Stories, Listening Comprehension exercises, and Readings are recorded on the audio to help students develop good pronunciation, intonation, and auditory memory. In addition, approximately fifty carefully developed listening tasks at each level of Top Notch develop crucial listening comprehension skills such as listen for details, listen for main ideas, listen to activate vocabulary, listen to activate grammar, and listen to confirm information.

We wish you and your students enjoyment and success with Top Notch 2.

We wrote it for you.

How Can It Be?

Have you ever wondered why Americans struggle with watching their weight, while the French, who consume all that rich food—the bread, the cheese, the wine, and the heavy sauces—continue to stay thin? Now a report from Cornell University suggests a possible answer. A study of almost 300 participants from France and the U.S. provides clues about how lifestyle and decisions about eating may affect weight. Researchers concluded that the French tend to stop eating when they feel full. However, Americans tend to stop when their plate is completely empty, or they have reached the end of their favorite TV show.

According to Dr. Joseph Mercola, who writes extensively about health issues, the French see eating as an important part of their lifestyle. They enjoy food and, therefore, spend a fairly long time at the table. In contrast, Americans see eating as something to do quickly as they squeeze meals between the other activities of the day. Mercola believes Americans have lost the ability to sense when they are actually full. So they keep eating long after the French would have stopped. In addition, he argues that, by tradition, the French tend to shop daily, walking to small shops and farmers' markets where they have a choice of fresh fruits, vegetables, and eggs as well as high-quality meats and cheeses for each meal. In contrast, Americans tend to drive their cars to huge supermarkets to buy canned and frozen foods for the whole week.

Despite all these differences, new reports show that recent lifestyle changes may be affecting French eating habits. Today, the rate of obesity—or extreme overweight—among adults is only 6%. However, as American fast-food restaurants gain acceptance, and the young turn their backs on older traditions, the obesity rate among French children has reached 17%—and is growing.

Personality: from Nature or Nurture?

What is personality? Many people define personality as a person's usual manner or style of behavior. These patterns of behavior tend to be predictable throughout a person's lifetime. Some people are introverts; others are extroverts. Some people have easygoing personalities: they are usually cheerful and calm and able to cope with life's difficulties without much trouble. Their emotions are usually under control: they don't get extremely angry about little things. Others, at the other end of the personality spectrum, are more emotional, experiencing higher highs and lower lows. Most people's personalities, however, don't fall at the extreme ends but rather fall somewhere in between.

Where do we get our personality?

For hundreds of years, psychologists and ordinary people have never stopped debating this fascinating question. Some people think personality develops as a result of the environment—the combination of influences that we learn from, such as our families, our culture, our friends, and our education. The people who believe this theory believe that all babies are born without a personality and that it's the environment that determines, or forms, each child's personality. This school of thought is called the “nurture school.”

At the other end of the continuum we find people who believe that personality is determined by “nature,” or the characteristics we receive, or “inherit,” from our parents biologically, through their genes. These people believe that our personality is not determined by the environment, but rather by genetics, and that each baby is born with a personality.

The “nature-nurture controversy”

The nature-nurture controversy is very old. Experimental psychologists have tried to discover which of these two factors, genetics or the environment, is more important in forming our personality. However, it's very difficult, if not impossible, to conduct research on real people with real lives. There's just no way to put people in a laboratory and watch them develop. For this reason, there's no scientific way to settle the nature-nurture controversy. Recently, however, most researchers have come to believe that both the environment AND the genes—nurture and nature—work together and are both important.

Even though the experts have largely discarded the idea that personality development is so black and white, the nature-nurture controversy remains a popular discussion among friends. It seems that everyone has an opinion.

A UNDERSTAND VOCABULARY FROM CONTEXT Match the words and phrases in the two columns.

BEFORE YOU READ

WARM-UP Do you do anything artistic? Do you paint, draw, or do handicrafts? Why or why not?

READING ▶ 4:23

Is it talent or hard work?

When children are asked to draw or paint a picture, they are happy to oblige. And they are willing to talk about and show their creation to anyone they meet. But when adults are asked to do the same thing, they typically get nervous and refuse to even try, claiming that they have no talent.

Most adults see themselves as lacking the “artistic gene.” However, when you look at drawings made by artists when they were children, their work doesn’t differ much from the scribbles and stick figures all children draw when they are young. When Don Lipski, who makes a successful living as a professional artist, looks back at drawings that he made as a child, he doesn’t find any early evidence of his own artistic talent. “I was always making things . . . doodling and putting things together. I didn’t think of myself as a creative person. I was just doing what all kids do.”

The general belief is that artistic talent is something one is born with: a person either has talent or does not. Clearly, great artists like Michelangelo or Picasso had natural talent and possessed more artistic ability than the average person. However, one factor that isn’t often considered is the role that years of training, practice, and hard work have played in the creation of great pieces of art. In addition, most artists are successful because they are passionate about their art—they love what they do. Their passion motivates them to continue to create—and improve their ability—day after day. While natural talent may be an advantage, hard work appears to be a necessary part of the creative process.

“ I paint sometimes. I find it relaxing. ”

“ Actually, I’m not interested in art. I don’t really think I have any ability. ”

In Drawing on the Right Side of the Brain, author Betty Edwards argues that while few people are born with natural artistic talent, all of us have the potential to improve our artistic ability. We just have to be willing to keep working at it. She claims that anyone can learn to use the right side of the brain, the side that governs visual skills like drawing and painting. In other words, artistic ability can be learned.

Frank Caruso Hey, I'm in Rome now! How do you like my new profile pic? That's the Colosseum behind me. This place is awesome!

Kathy Chu Wow! You take good selfies, Frank! You look like you're having fun! Hey, didn't you just post a message from Tokyo two days ago?

Frank Caruso I did. But I've always wanted to see Italy, so someone suggested visiting my airline's web page to look for specials. I got a great deal on a return ticket with a stop here. I'm heading back home to Boston on Friday. Did you all catch the Japan photos I posted?

Nardo Madureira No. What album are they in?

Frank Caruso Actually, they're not here. They're on that new photo-sharing site, GlobalPhoto. Log on and add me to your friends. Or I can send you a link. Click on it to go right to the pics.

Amy: Am I interrupting you?

Dee: Not at all. Paul and I are just instant messaging.

Amy: Sorry to bother you. But I'm a little worried about something.

Dee: What's wrong?

Amy: I just got this e-mail from someone I don't know, and I clicked on the attachment to see what it was. My computer totally crashed. Everything froze, and no matter what I do, nothing happens.

Dee: Actually, you should never open an attachment if you don't know the sender. It could be malware or carry a virus.

Amy: I know. I don't know what I was thinking! It just happened so fast.

Dee: Look. First, try shutting down and restarting, OK? Sometimes that takes care of it.

Amy: You think that would work?

Dee: It couldn't hurt. Listen, Paul's still there. Let me send a quick response, OK? I'll just be a second.

Amy: No problem. I'll go and try restarting to see if that does the trick.

- Expressing purpose with in order to and for

An infinitive can be used to express a purpose.

I scrolled down to read the text. (= because I wanted to read the text)

Put the cursor on the toolbar to choose a file. (= if you want to choose a file)

Answering a Why question with an infinitive of purpose is similar to answering with Because.

Why did you click on that icon? To save the file before I close it. (= Because I want to save it.)

Why did you highlight that word? To select it so I can copy it. (= Because I want to copy it.)

A FIND THE GRAMMAR Look at the Conversation Model on page 100. Find an infinitive of purpose. Restate the sentence, using because.

B PAIR WORK Look at Cathy's to-do list. Ask and answer questions, using infinitives of purpose.

The Zeta B is almost as fast as the Panasox.

To express difference

READING ▶ 5.14Identity Thieves Steal 40 Million Credit Card Numbers

Eleven hackers around the world were accused of stealing more than 40 million credit card numbers on the Internet. They included three people from the U.S. who are accused of hacking into the wireless networks of popular online stores.

Once inside these networks, they searched for customers' credit card numbers, passwords, and personal information so they could pretend to be those customers. When the identity theft was completed, credit card numbers and other details were then sold on the Internet, allowing criminals to withdraw thousands of dollars at a time from ATMs.

Cyberbullying Leads to Teenager's Death

Megan Taylor Meier, age 13, joined an online social networking group where she became online friends with a 16-year-old boy named Josh. Megan and Josh never communicated by phone or in person, but she enjoyed exchanging messages with him in the group.

Over time, Josh changed. He began to bully her daily—criticizing her personality and telling her what a bad person she was. Some of their communications were posted so everyone could see them. Josh's last message to her said, "The world would be a better place without you." A short time later, Megan committed suicide.

After her death, it was discovered that there was no "Josh." The messages came from the mother of one of Megan's classmates. The mother had been angry with Megan because she believed Megan had said some untrue things about her daughter.

Computer Viruses Are Getting Harder to Prevent

"We're losing the battle against computer viruses," says David Farber, professor of computer science at Carnegie Mellon University. These viruses, which can enter computer systems through junk e-mail from hackers, have reached epidemic proportions, slowing down computers—and sometimes causing whole office computer systems to crash—in both large and small companies. In one year alone, they were reported to have caused $13 billion USD in damage.

Companies have been trying for years to protect themselves with anti-virus programs, but criminals are creating newer, improved viruses faster than these programs can keep up with.

A UNDERSTAND FROM CONTEXT Use the context of the articles to help you to complete each definition.

B RELATE TO PERSONAL EXPERIENCE What news stories have you heard about the Internet? Do you ever worry about using the Internet? Why or why not?

B DISCUSSION Do you think that computers and the Internet have brought more benefits or more problems? Support your opinions with examples.

Text-mining (optional)

Find and underline three words or phrases in the Reading that were new to you. Use them in your Discussion. For example: "exchanging messages."

In my opinion, there are more benefits than problems. For example, it's easy to look up information, and it's really fast.

I think the Internet is OK, but there are really too many problems. First of all, you have to be very careful if you shop online with a credit card.

B ▶ 5:18 PHOTO STORY Read and listen to a conversation about a moral dilemma.

Matt: I can't believe it! I just picked this up to look at it and the thing broke in two. And with these ridiculous prices, it's going to cost me an arm and a leg.

Noah: Oh, forget it. I'll bet it was already broken.

Matt: You're probably right.

Noah: Just put it back on the shelf. The place is empty. No one saw. Let's just split.

Matt: I couldn't do that.

Noah: Why not? You said it yourself. The prices are ridiculous.

Matt: Well, put yourself in the owner's shoes. Suppose the plate were yours? How would you feel if someone broke it and didn't tell you?

Noah: Well I'm not the owner. And, anyway, for him it would be just a drop in the bucket. To you it's a lot of money.

Matt: Maybe so. But if I ran out without telling him, I couldn't face myself.

GRAMMAR The unreal conditional

Remember: Conditional sentences express the results of actions or conditions. The real conditional expresses the results of real conditions—conditions that exist.
If I don't use English in class, I won't learn to speak it.

Meaning

Unreal conditional sentences describe the results of unreal conditions—conditions that don't exist.

unreal action or condition	result (if it were true)
If I found a wallet in the street,	I'd try to return it. (unreal: I haven't found one.)

Contraction
would → 'd

Formation

In the if clause, use the simple past tense. For the verb be, always use were.
In the result clause, use would + a base form.

unreal action or condition	result (if it were true)
If I had to make a hard decision,	I would try to do the right thing
If she knew how to speak French,	she'd help them.
If you broke something in a store,	would you pay for it?
If you were Matt,	what would you do ?
If I were you,	I wouldn't do that.
If you weren't my friend,	I wouldn't tell you what happened.

Be careful!

Don't use would in the if clause.
If I knew his name, I would tell you.
NOT If I ~~would know~~ his name . . .

Note: In real and unreal conditional sentences, the clauses can occur in either order. Use a comma if the if clause comes first.

If I knew, I would tell you. OR I would tell you if I knew.

Homeless Man Returns Wallet with $900

Posted on: Monday, 17 April

SANTA ANA, Calif. - A homeless man searching through trash bins for recyclable cans found a missing wallet and returned it to its owner. Kim Bogue, who works in the city, realized that her wallet was missing last week and doubted she'd ever get back the $900 and credit cards inside. "I prayed that night and asked God to help me," said Bogue, who was saving the money for a trip to her native Thailand.

Days later, a homeless man found the wallet wrapped in a plastic bag in the trash, where Bogue had accidentally thrown it away with her lunch. He gave it to Sherry Wesley, who works in a nearby building. "He came to me with the wad of money and said, 'This probably belongs to someone that you work with. Can you return it?'" Wesley said.

"He has a very good heart," said Bogue, who gave the man a $100 reward. "If someone else had found it, the money would have been gone."

Man Risks Life to Save Another

Many people who ride a busy urban subway wonder, "What would happen if I fell off the platform and onto the tracks? What would I do?" Others wonder, "What would I do if someone else fell?"

That question was answered in a split-second decision made by "subway hero" Wesley Autrey, a fifty-year-old New York City construction worker on his way to work. Autrey jumped onto the tracks to save a fellow passenger from an oncoming New York City subway train.

The passenger, Cameron Hollopeter, 20, a film student at the New York Film Academy, had fallen between the tracks after suffering a seizure. Autrey rolled Hollopeter into a gap between the rails and covered him with his own body just as the train entered the station. Both men survived.

"I don't feel like I did something spectacular; I just saw someone who needed help," Mr. Autrey said. "I did what I felt was right."

An act of honesty by airport screener

NEW DELHI: In a display of honesty, a security agent at the Indira Gandhi International Airport handed over a small plastic bag with US $3,000 in cash to a passenger who had completely forgotten the bag after it passed through the airport screening machine.

Noticing that the bag had been left behind, Dalbir Singh made an announcement asking passengers to come forward to claim it. However, when no one claimed it, Singh inspected the baggage tag and guessed it probably belonged to a passenger en route to Mumbai. An announcement was made on the next flight to Mumbai and the owner of the bag came forward to collect it.

Singh was given a cash reward for his honesty.

TOP NOTCH

Grammar Booster

Use to / used to: use and form

Use to and used to express a past habitual action, but one that is no longer true today.

When I was a kid, I didn't use to eat vegetables. But now I do.

Remember: In yes / no questions and negative statements, use use to NOT used to.

I used to stay up late. Now I don't.

I didn't use to (NOT used-to) get up early. Now I do.

Did you use to (NOT used to) go dancing more often?

Note: The simple past tense can express a past habitual action if there is a reference to a period of time in the past.

When I was a kid, I didn't eat peppers. I still don't today.

A On a separate sheet of paper, change each statement into a yes / no question.

I used to go running every day. Did you use to go running every day?

- 1 There used to be a large tree in front of your house.
- 2 Mr. and Mrs. Palmer used to go dancing every weekend.
- 3 Their grandmother used to put sugar in their orange juice.
- 4 Luke used to be very overweight.

B On a separate sheet of paper, use the prompts to write logical sentences with negative or affirmative forms of use to / used to.

- 1 Jason and Trish / get lots of exercise, but now they go swimming every day.
- 2 There / be a movie theater on Smith Street, but now there isn't.
- 3 No one / worry about fatty foods, but now most people do.
- 4 English / be an international language, but now everyone uses English to communicate around the world.
- 5 Women in North America / wear pants, but now it's very common for them to wear them.

Be used to / get used to

Be used to + a noun phrase means to be accustomed to something. Compare use to / used to with be used to.

I didn't use to like spicy food. But now I do. (used to + base form)

I'm used to the noise now. But at first, it really bothered me. (be used to + a noun phrase)

Get used to + a noun phrase means to become accustomed to something.

You'll get used to the new menu after a few days.

Be careful! With be used to, don't change used in negative statements or questions.

He wasn't used to the weather there. NOT He wasn't use to . . .

Are you used to life here? NOT Are you use to . . .

C Check the sentences in which used to means "accustomed to something."

- 3 They used to like red meat, but now they don't.

- 5 I'm sure she'll get used to her new apartment soon.
- 6 These shoes used to be comfortable, but now they're too loose.
- 7 I'm sure she'll get used to wearing high-heeled shoes.

- 3 Is he use to his new roommate yet?
- 4 Will she ever get use to life in the city?
- 5 What did you used to do on weekdays when you weren't working?

On a separate sheet of paper, write two sentences about something you're used to and two sentences about something you're not used to.

Repeated actions in the past: would + base form

You can also use would + the base form of a verb to describe repeated past actions. In this use, would has the same meaning as used to.

When we were young, our parents would go camping with us. (= used to go camping with us.)

Be careful! With non-action verbs that don't describe repeated actions, use used to, not would.

I used to have a lot of clothes. NOT I would-have a lot of clothes.

My hometown used to be Dakar. NOT My hometown would-be Dakar.

I used to be a terrible English student. NOT I would-be a terrible English student.

My friends and I used to hate baseball. NOT My friends and I would-hate baseball.

Infinitives can be subjects, subject complements, and direct objects.

- To paint well is a talent. (subject)
- The only thing he needs is to paint. (subject complement; usually follows be)
- I want to paint. (direct object)

Underline the gerunds and circle the infinitives in these sentences. How is each used in the sentence? On the line next to each sentence, write S for subject, C for subject complement, DO for direct object, or OP for object of a preposition.

- 1 I enjoy watching old movies every night on TV.
- 2 Her greatest dream was to see all of her children attend college.
- 3 What's the point of creating a nice environment at home if genetics is the only thing that counts?

A gerund can be made negative by using a negative word before it.

Complete the paragraph with affirmative and negative gerunds.

I really want to do something to improve my appearance and lose weight. I'm sick of¹ be able to fit into my clothes. Also, I want to go on a diet, but I'm afraid of⁴ feel hungry all the time. I worry about⁵ have enough energy to exercise if I'm⁶ get enough to eat.

UNIT 10 Lesson 1

Should and ought to; had better

Use should or ought to + a base form to state an opinion or give advice, especially about an ethical choice. Ought to has the same meaning as should, but should is slightly less formal.

You should (or ought to) return the wallet. You shouldn't keep it.

Use had better + a base form to state an opinion or give stronger advice. The meaning is similar to should and ought to, but had better expresses the idea that there is a consequence for not doing something.

You'd better tell the waiter that the check is wrong. If you don't, he will have to pay.

You'd better not eat at the Fairway Café. I got sick there the last time I did.

Remember: Should, ought to, and had better precede other verbs and give them a special meaning. They never change form.

Note: In American English it's very uncommon to use ought to in negative statements or questions. Use should or shouldn't instead.

A On a separate sheet of paper, complete the statements about an ethical choice, expressing your own ideas.

- 1 Colleagues in an office should always
- 2 Parents of young children should not
- 3 We ought to tell the store owner when
- 4 You forgot to pay your check? You had better
- 5 We had better not It's too expensive.

B On a separate sheet of paper, write five suggestions to a visitor to your country, using had better or had better not.

“ You'd better not take the local train to Bradbury. It's too slow. ”

Have to, must, and be supposed to

Have to and must

Use have to or the modal must + a base form to express obligation when there is no other choice of action available.

Students must take this exam.

You have to take the 6:00 train if you want to arrive on time.

Use don't have to (NOT must) to express a lack of obligation.

You don't have to pay for the shoes if you don't like them. You can return them.

Use must not (NOT don't have to) for a strong or legal prohibition.

Passengers must not leave their baggage unattended in the waiting area.

Be supposed to Use be supposed to (or not be supposed to) + a base form to express an expected, but not a required, action. The degree of obligation is weaker than with have to or must.

We're supposed to pay our check at the front of the coffee shop, not at the table. (The restaurant expects diners to pay at the front.)

Hotel guests are not supposed to use the towels from their rooms at the pool.

Note: Must is very formal and not very common in speaking. It is generally used by a person in authority (e.g., a teacher or boss) to state policy or law. Have to is much more common in both speaking and writing. The more informal have got to is also common in spoken English.

Sorry. I've got to hurry. I'm going to be late.

Don't use must not for a lack of obligation. Use don't have to or doesn't have to.

C On a separate sheet of paper, write each sentence two ways: with must and with have to.

- 1 Drivers / obey the speed limit.
- 2 Students / arrive on time for class.
- 3 In this beach restaurant / diners / wear shoes. If you are barefoot, don't come in.
- 4 You / have a reservation to eat at the Palace Restaurant.

D On a separate sheet of paper, write five sentences that describe actions your school expects from its students. Use be supposed to.

Students are supposed to come on time to class. They're not supposed to be late.

E Choose the sentence closer in meaning to each numbered statement or question.

- 1 Do you think the Milton Restaurant is a good place to eat?
 - a Do you think I should eat at the Milton Restaurant?

UNIT 6 Connecting ideas: subordinating conjunctions

A subordinating conjunction connects a dependent clause to an independent clause.

_____ independent clause _____ _____ dependent clause _____
 People are eating more fast foods today because they want to save time.
 I generally avoid carbohydrates even though it isn't easy.

Subordinating conjunctions

because	unless since	although
if	(even) though

A dependent clause can also come at the beginning of a sentence. Use a comma after the dependent clause when it comes first.

_____ dependent clause _____ _____ independent clause _____
Because people want to save time, they are eating more fast foods today.
Even though it isn't easy, I generally avoid carbohydrates.

Use the subordinating conjunction if to express a condition. Use unless to express a negative condition.

You will be healthy if you eat right and exercise regularly.
 You will gain weight unless you eat right and exercise regularly. (= if you don't)

Use the subordinating conjunctions although, even though, or though to express a contradiction.

Although
Even though they knew fatty foods were unhealthy, people ate them anyway.
Though

Remember: Use because or since to give a reason.

- A Choose the best subordinating conjunction to complete each sentence.
- (Though / If / Unless) I learn to speak English well, I will be very happy.
 - (Even though / Because / If) she is an artist, she is interested in science.
 - Studying English is important (although / because / unless) it can help you do more.

 - Children become overweight. (if)
 - Obesity will continue to be a global problem. (unless)
 - Eating too much fast food is bad for you. (because)

- C Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 72) Using four different subordinating conjunctions, write four sentences: two about eating habits in the past and two about eating habits in the present. Use your sentences in your paragraph about eating habits.

UNIT 7 Parallel structure

When writing a series of words or phrases in a sentence, be sure that all items in the series are in the same grammatical form. This feature of good writing is called "parallel structure."

Lucy is creative. She likes painting, playing the piano, and dancing. (all items in the series are gerunds)

Be careful! Don't combine gerunds and infinitives in the same series.

Don't write: Lucy is creative. She likes painting, ~~to~~-play the piano, and dancing.

In a series of infinitives, it is correct to use to before each item in the series or to use to only before the first item.

- ✗ I decided to study medicine, get married, and to have children before my thirtieth birthday.
- ✓ I decided to study medicine, to get married, and to have children before my thirtieth birthday.
- ✓ I decided to study medicine, get married, and have children before my thirtieth birthday.

Remember: When a sentence includes a series of more than two words or phrases, separate them with commas. Use and before the last item in the series. The comma before and is optional.

no comma (two items)

commas (three items)

Jake and May have three favorite activities: painting, singing, and dancing.

A Correct the errors in parallel structure in the sentences.

- 1 I have begun studying psychology and to learn about personality development.

- 7 To be quiet, be hard to know, and to seek peace are traits typical of the introvert's personality.
- 8 Psychologists of the nineteenth century continued believing in the importance of genetics and to write about it in books and articles.

B Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 84) On a separate sheet of paper, write sentences to answer some or all the following questions about the person you chose. If appropriate, use verbs and phrases from the box on the right. Be careful to use parallel structure. Use the sentences in your paragraphs about the person.

- Who is the person?
- What is his or her relation to you?
- Who are the people in his or her family?
- How many siblings does he or she have?
- What kind of personality does he or she have?
- What are his or her likes and dislikes?
- Are there some things he or she is excited about, bored with, angry about, or worried about right now?
- Are there some things he or she is excited about, bored with, angry about, or worried about right now?

Words to describe likes / dislikes

avoids	hopes
hates	would like
can't stand	is happy about
doesn't mind	is excited about enjoys	is bored with expects	is sick and tired of

Remember: A good paragraph has a topic sentence that clearly states what the main idea of the paragraph is.

In addition, a paragraph should have supporting details—that is, information that provides support for, and is clearly tied to, the topic sentence.

Be careful! If a detail doesn't support the topic sentence or isn't tied to it clearly, then it may not belong in the paragraph.

In the writing model to the right, the topic sentence of the paragraph is highlighted in yellow. The sentences that follow are details. Two of the sentences are crossed out because they do not support the topic sentence and should not be included in the paragraph. These two sentences do not provide information about the chair and do not indicate why the writer likes the chair. The remaining sentences are supporting details—they all support the topic sentence and are clearly tied to it. They provide more information about the chair and they explain why the writer likes the chair.

In my living room, my favorite possession is an old wooden chair. My parents gave it to me when I left home. ~~A wooden chair can be very expensive if it is an antique.~~ It has lots of memories for me because it was in my parents' bedroom when I was growing up. ~~It's important to take very good care of wooden furniture.~~ The chair is very comfortable, and I used to sit in it a lot as a child.

A Read each topic sentence. Circle the detail that does not support the topic sentence.

- 1 Many French artists in the nineteenth century were influenced by Japanese art and printmaking.
 - a Today, the work of Hokusai, Japan's most famous printmaker, is popular in Western countries.
 - b Looking at the work of the French impressionists, it is clear that they chose to imitate the Japanese artistic styles of the time.

- 3 Rodin's statue, The Thinker, is probably one of the most famous sculptures in the world.
 - a This metal sculpture of a man deep in thought is recognized all over the world.

Favorite object:
Topic sentence:
Details to support my topic sentence:
1.
2.
3.

UNIT 9 Organizing ideas

When you want to describe the benefits and problems of an issue, there are different ways you can organize your ideas. Here are some approaches.

Approach 1: In one paragraph

One way is to describe all the advantages and disadvantages in one paragraph. Following are notes of the details that will be included in the paragraph.

THE ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF SMART PHONES
Advantages: are easy to carry, don't miss calls, keep you connected with family and friends
Disadvantages: bother other people, make people dependent, are easy to lose

This approach is good for a short piece of writing consisting of only a few sentences. However, if you want to develop those ideas in more than just a few sentences, it is easier for the reader to follow if you can organize the details in one of the following ways:

Approach 2: In two paragraphs

In this approach, you can use a first paragraph to describe all the advantages. Then you can use a second paragraph to describe all the disadvantages. Following are notes of the details that will be included in each paragraph.

Paragraph 1: SMART PHONES HAVE ADVANTAGES are easy to carry, don't miss calls, keep you connected with family and friends
Paragraph 2: BUT THEY ALSO HAVE DISADVANTAGES bother other people, make people dependent, are easy to lose

Approach 3: In more than two paragraphs

In this approach, you can use a separate paragraph to focus on each different topic. In each paragraph, you can describe both advantages and disadvantages. Following are notes of the details that will be included in each paragraph.

Paragraph 1: (THEY'RE SMALL.) smart phones easy to carry, but also easy to lose
Paragraph 2: (THEY'RE CONVENIENT.) won't miss calls, but you can also bother other people
Paragraph 3: (THEY'VE CHANGED OUR LIVES.) keep people connected with family and friends, but also can make people dependent

A Using Approach 2, organize the ideas into two paragraphs: paragraph 1 is about the benefits of renting a car; paragraph 2 is about the problems. Write 1 or 2 next to each idea.

- ___ It gives you the freedom to go wherever you want to go whenever you want.
- ___ You might see places you can't see by bus or train.
- ___ You could have an accident during your trip.
- ___ You have more control over whether or not you will have an accident during your trip.
- ___ You can carry more luggage and other things you might need.
- ___ To drive safely, you have to become familiar with the local driving rules.
- ___ If you're traveling with a group of people, it could cost less than paying for bus and train tickets.
- ___ You may have to understand road signs that are in a different language.
- ___ If you have to do all the driving, it can be very stressful and tiring.
- ___ If you're traveling alone or with one other person, it could cost a lot of money in rental fees and gas.

B Now, on a separate sheet of paper, practice using Approach 3. Organize the sentences from Exercise A by topic into three or more separate paragraphs. Don't forget to include a topic sentence.

C Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 108) Use your notes on page 107 to write your paragraphs about the benefits and problems of the Internet. Choose Approach 2 or Approach 3 to organize your writing.

UNIT 10 Introducing conflicting ideas: On the one hand; On the other hand

Use On the one hand and On the other hand to present conflicting ideas or two sides of an issue. The following two sentences present the two sides together, one right after the other.

On the one hand, I would want to tell the truth. On the other hand, I wouldn't want to get in trouble.

Remember: You can also present conflicting or contradictory information with Even though, Although, and However.

Even though I'm basically an honest person, I don't always tell the truth.

Although Matt didn't think he broke the dish, it's possible that he did.

Matt wanted to tell the owner of the store what happened. However, Noah didn't agree.

When one paragraph presents one side of an issue and the next one presents the other, writers don't usually use On the one hand in the first paragraph. Instead, they just begin the next paragraph with On the other hand to let the reader know that the conflicting idea will follow. Look at the writing model to the right.

Being honest has many advantages. If you always tell the truth, you don't have to remember an untruth you said before. People who tell the truth don't have trouble sleeping. They can look at themselves in the mirror and feel good. On the other hand, there are times when telling a lie makes sense. For example, your friend Andrew might ask you if you like his new jacket, and you think it's ugly. If you told him that, it would hurt his feelings. It's possible that not being absolutely truthful might make more sense.

A Reread the Photo Story on page 111. Write a summary of the story in three to five sentences. Answer the questions below.

- Where was Matt?
- What happened?
- Who was he with?
- What did the two friends discuss?

B Answer the questions below. Write three to five sentences about Matt's choices. Then write the consequences of each choice. Use If and the unreal conditional in at least one sentence.

- What should he do?
- What could he do?
- What would most people do?

C Write three to five sentences about what you would do if you were Matt. Answer the questions below.

- What would you do?
- What would happen if you did that?
- What would happen if you didn't?

D Guidance for the Writing Exercise (on page 120) In your paragraphs about Matt's dilemma, use On the one hand, On the other hand, Even though, Although, and However to connect conflicting ideas.

Top Notch Pop Lyrics

1:16–1:17 Greetings and Small Talk [Unit 1]

You look so familiar. Have we met before?
I don't think you're from around here.
It might have been two weeks ago, but I'm not sure.
Has it been a month or a year?
I have a funny feeling that I've met you twice.
That's what they call déjà vu.
You were saying something friendly, trying to be nice—and now you're being friendly, too.
One look, one word.
It's the friendliest sound that I've ever heard.
Thanks for your greetings.
I'm glad this meeting occurred.

(CHORUS)

Greetings and small talk make the world go round.
On every winding road I've walked,
this is what I've found.

Have you written any letters to your friends
back home?
Have you had a chance to do that?
Have you spoken to your family on the telephone?
Have you taken time for a chat?
Bow down, shake hands.
Do whatever you do in your native land.
I'll be happy to greet you
in any way that you understand.

(CHORUS)

Have you seen the latest movie out of Hollywood?
Have you read about it yet?
If you haven't eaten dinner, are you in the mood for a meal you won't forget?
Bow down, shake hands.
Do whatever you do in your native land.
I'll be happy to greet you
in any way that you understand.

(CHORUS)

1:35–1:36 Better Late Than Never [Unit 2]

Where have you been? I've waited for you.
I'd rather not say how long.
The movie began one hour ago.
How did you get the time all wrong?
Well, I got stuck in traffic, and when I arrived
I couldn't find a parking place.
Did you buy the tickets? You're kidding—for real?

Let me pay you back, in that case.

(CHORUS)

Sorry I'm late.

I know you've waited here forever.
How long has it been?
It's always better late than never.

When that kind of movie comes to the big screen,
it always attracts a crowd,
and I've always wanted to see it with you—but it looks like we've missed it now.
I know what you're saying, but actually,
I would rather watch a video.

So why don't we rent it and bring it back home?

Let's get in the car and go.

(CHORUS)

Didn't you mention, when we made our plans, that you've seen this movie recently?
It sounds so dramatic, and I'm so upset,
I'd rather see a comedy!
Well, which comedy do you recommend?
It really doesn't matter to me.
I still haven't seen 'The World and a Day'.
I've heard that one is pretty funny.

(CHORUS)

2:17–2:18 Checking Out [Unit 3]

Ms. Jones travels all alone.
She doesn't need much space—
a single room with a nice twin bed and a place for her suitcase.
Her stay is always satisfactory,
but in the morning she's going to be checking out.

Mr. Moon will be leaving soon,
and when he does I'll say,
"Thank you, sir, for staying with us.
How do you want to pay?"

And in the end it isn't hard.
He'll put it on his credit card. He's checking out.

Would you like to leave a message?
Could you call back later?

Do you need some extra towels or today's newspaper?

Can I get you anything?
Would you like room service?
I'm so sorry.

Am I making you nervous?
Good evening.

I'll ring that room for you.
Is that all?

I'll be glad to put you through.
I'm sorry, but he's not answering.

The phone just rings and rings.

The couple in room 586

Pick up the laundry. Turn down the beds.

We have another guest coming with his family.
You'd better hurry or they will be

2:36–2:37 Wheels around the World [Unit 4]

Was I going too fast or a little too slow?

I was looking out the window,
and I just don't know.

I must have turned the steering wheel
a little too far
when I drove into the bumper of that luxury car.

Oh no!

How awful!

What a terrible day!

I'm sorry to hear that.

Are you OK?

(CHORUS)

Wheels around the World
are waiting here with your car.
Pick it up.

Turn it on.

Play the radio.

Wheels around the World—
"helping you to go far."

You can drive anywhere.

Buckle up and go.

Did I hit the red sedan,
or did it hit me?

I was talking on the cell phone
in my SUV.

Nothing was broken,
and no one was hurt,
but I did spill some coffee
on my favorite shirt.

Oh no!

Thank goodness you're still alive!

I'm so happy that
you survived.

(CHORUS)

What were you doing when you hit that tree?
I was racing down the mountain, and the brakes failed me.

How did it happen? Was the road still wet?
Well, there might have been a danger sign,
But I forget.

The hood popped open and the door fell off.
The headlights blinked and the engine coughed.

The side-view mirror had a terrible crack.

The gearshift broke. Can I bring the car back?

Oh no!

Thank goodness
you're still alive!

I'm so happy that
you survived.

(CHORUS)

3:17–3:18 Piece of Cake [Unit 5]

I need to pick up a few things on the way back to school.

Feel like stopping at a store with me?

I'd like to, but I think I'll pass.

I don't have time today.

It's already nearly a quarter to three.

(CHORUS)

Don't worry. We'll be fine.

How long can it take?

It's easy. It'll be a piece of cake.

I need a tube of toothpaste and a bar of Luvly soap,
some sunscreen, and a bottle of shampoo.

Where would I find makeup?

How about a comb?

Have a look in aisle one or two.

(CHORUS)

I have an appointment
for a haircut at The Spa.

On second thought, they're always running late.

My class starts in an hour.

I'll never make it now.

How long do you think we'll have to wait?

How to make healthy lifestyle changes that last

If you've ever tried to change the way you eat or to lead a more active lifestyle, you know it isn't easy. Making a lifestyle change is challenging—and it's especially difficult to make changes that last. Often people try to make many big changes all at once without a clear idea of how they will accomplish their goals. They may struggle, get disappointed, and give up after a short period of time. Here are some tips to help you make healthy changes that become lifelong habits:

- 1 Make one change at a time. Replacing unhealthy behaviors with healthy ones takes time. If you try to change too much too fast, you won't be successful. Focus on one change you'd like to make. If your goal is to improve your eating habits, choose one thing to cut back on or add to your diet. Maybe resolve to stop drinking soda or eat some vegetables or fruit with every meal. When a new healthy behavior becomes part of your normal daily routine, you can take on another change.
- 2 Start small. Changes are often easier to make if they are small. Don't expect yourself to go from lying on the sofa watching TV every night to spending an hour a night at the gym. Instead, take "baby steps." For example, you could start by exercising twice a week for 30 minutes. Then, when you've done this successfully for a few weeks, try three times a week for 45 minutes.
- 3 Make a realistic plan. When you decide to make a lifestyle change, you need to plan what you will do and when, where, how often, etc. If more exercise is your goal, figure out how you will schedule it into your week and put it on your calendar. If you want to eat healthier, write down meals and snacks for the week. Keep the foods you'll need on hand, and consult your plan before you eat. Make sure the plan you create is achievable and that it works for your lifestyle. For example, if you're a big meat eater, a plan to eat only vegetables is not going to happen! Likewise, if you're not a morning person, don't plan daily workouts at 5:00 A.M.!

13 Complete the statements with words and phrases from the box.

“baby step” challenging habits realistic struggle successful

1. You want the changes you make to become _____ which you do regularly without thinking.
2. It's difficult to make lifestyle changes. You may _____, but don't give up.
3. If you try to make many big changes all at once, you probably won't be _____.
4. If you want to stop drinking coffee, you could start by drinking two cups every morning instead of three. This is a _____.
5. When you plan to make a change, be _____. Set goals you can accomplish and that work for your lifestyle.
6. Trying to change the way you eat is _____. It takes a lot of effort.

14 Think about a lifestyle change you have tried to make. Was your change successful? On a separate sheet of paper, explain why or why not.

11 Read the article about how to develop artistic talent.

Nurturing Your Artistic Talent

1 So, you'd like to improve your artistic ability, but you think you don't have any natural talent? The truth is you don't have to be born with talent to be a good artist—and to enjoy making art. Artistic skill can be learned.

2 Many people who try painting get frustrated and give up because they feel they lack the “artistic gene.” However, the real problem is that they have just never been trained to look at the world like an artist. When non-artists look at the subject of a drawing, they see it with the left side of their brains. They immediately begin figuring out the meaning of what they see. An artist pays attention to what is actually being seen—the lines. Are they straight or curved? Dark or light? Where do they intersect?

3 Want to learn to see like an artist? Try this exercise. Find a large photo of a face and try to draw it. It's OK if your drawing looks bad. Then turn the photo upside down and try again. This time focus only on the relationships of the intersecting lines and shapes. Almost always, the upside-down drawing, when turned right side up, will be much better than the right-side-up version! How did this happen? By turning the photo upside down, the left side of your brain stopped looking at the photo as a face. Instead, the right side of your brain took over and began seeing the photo in a new way.

4 People who claim they have no artistic talent may actually have talent. But they may not be able to use it because they worry, “What will people think? Will I look silly? Will my piece be awful?” Young children rarely have these fears. They just enjoy the experience of creating something. To be successful at art, you will need to adopt the carefree attitude that you once had as a child. Don't worry about the results. Just relax and enjoy the experience of creating art.

5 Anyone can develop the necessary skills and understanding to create art. Those with natural talent are able to learn more quickly and easily, but even they will need training, practice, and hard work. So, stop making excuses and get started! Take art lessons, read books on art, and attend art exhibits. Expose yourself to a variety of techniques, kinds of art, and other artists. And think of becoming an artist as a lifetime journey. Stop worrying about making mistakes and enjoy the adventure!

Answer the questions, according to the article. Circle the letter.

15 Read the article from a career advice website.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with a menu bar (File, Edit, Links, Tools, Help, Chat) and window control buttons. The article title is "Social Networking: Could It Hurt Your Job Search?". To the right of the title is an image of a computer keyboard with a key labeled "privacy". The article text discusses the risks of social networking and provides four rules for protection.

Social Networking: Could It Hurt Your Job Search?

To be the best candidate for a job, you'll need more than an impressive résumé and a nice suit. You also need to make sure there isn't any information about you online that could cause an employer not to hire you. A recent study found that 77 percent of recruiters search the Internet for information about applicants they are considering for a job. Thirty-five percent of these same recruiters say they have rejected an applicant based on information they have found online.

"A profile on a social networking site can show you a lot more of a person's character than a résumé," says Jen Romney, a corporate recruiter who recently began looking up the names of applicants on the Web. "It's surprising what you can find. I once had to make a difficult decision between two excellent applicants. When I found one of the applicants' profile on a social networking site, the decision became much easier. The man's profile was full of negative comments about his job and boss. In one post he wrote, 'I'm calling in sick today—because I'm sick of work!' I don't need to tell you that he didn't get the job."

Romney warns that as people share more of their lives online, it becomes harder to keep one's private life completely private. "Everything is public," says Romney. "It's called the World Wide Web for a reason. Anyone in the world can see it."

While not all employers research potential employees online, it's worth being a little careful to make sure that social networking doesn't ruin your career opportunities. You can protect yourself by following four simple rules:

1. Think before you click. Before you post photos of you and your friends partying or comments about how you hate your job, ask yourself: Would I be comfortable talking about this in a job interview?
2. Take control. Most social networking sites have privacy controls. Take the time to figure them out and use them wisely. Set your controls so that only people you've chosen as "friends" can view your profile and post messages on your page.
3. Review. Check your profile regularly to see what has been posted. Type your name and e-mail address into a search engine to see what is on the Internet about you.
4. Delete. Remove any potentially embarrassing or offensive posts, information, or photos. Ask friends to delete anything inappropriate about you on their own profiles.

Use the context of the article to match the terms with their meanings.

| 4. _____ post | d. page on a social networking site with a member's personal information |

14 Read the news story about an act of honesty.

Pro Golfer J. P. Hayes’s Act of Honesty

J. P. Hayes is a professional golfer. But Hayes has perhaps gotten more attention for an act of honesty than for his golf game. While playing in the first round of a PGA tournament in Texas, Hayes’ caddie handed him a ball from his golf bag. Hayes took two shots and then noticed the ball he was playing with was a different model than the ball he started the round with. This is against the rules in professional golf. So, Hayes asked an official to come over and told him about his mistake. The official said the penalty for the mistake was two shots. Even with the penalty, Hayes finished with a good score. He also did well in the second round and had a good chance of advancing to the final. Hayes had struggled with his game that year, so this tournament was important to his career.

After the second round of the tournament, Hayes was relaxing in his hotel room when he realized there might be another problem with the ball he played in the first round. He realized it was a new type of ball that probably wasn’t approved for competition by the United States Golf Association. Hayes had tested the new balls for a golf equipment company four weeks earlier. Apparently, one was left in his bag by accident.

Hayes knew that if he admitted his mistake, he would probably not be allowed to play full-time on the next year’s PGA tour. He also knew that no one else was aware of his mistake. Hayes had a choice: He could say nothing and keep playing, or he could admit that he had broken the rules and hurt his career.

Hayes decided to do the right thing. He called an official that night and, as expected, was disqualified from playing on the next PGA tour. Speaking about his mistake, Hayes said “It’s extremely disappointing. I keep thinking I’m going to wake up and this is going to be a bad nightmare.” However, Hayes never regretted his decision. “I would say everybody out here would have done the same thing,” he asserted. But the real question is: Would they? In a similar situation, would other professional athletes have acted as honestly as J. P. Hayes?

Answer the questions, according to the article.

1. What was the first mistake Hayes made? _____
2. What was the second mistake Hayes made? _____
3. Did anyone see Hayes make the mistakes? _____
4. What happened when Hayes told officials about the first mistake? _____
